Application of Industrial Salad Snack Frying Machine

Advantages Of Industrial Automatic Continuous Salad Snack Fryer Machine Frying Plant

Advantages Of Industrial Salad Snack Fryer With Temperature Control

1	The industrial salad snack fryer uses the principle of different proportions of oil, water, and animal oil to residues produced during the working process into the water, and the animal fat sinks into the lower layer. It fundamentally solves the problem of residues, animal fats, and repeated frying in the traditional frying process, which can acidify and carbonize the frying oil and deteriorate and produce carcinogens.
2	Continuous salad snack fryer machine can improve quality and ensure health: The special process keeps the working layer. The heating in the middle can effectively control the convection of the upper and lower layers, ensuring the purity of various oil layers.
3	Industrial automatic continuous salad snack fryer machine frying plant can save frying oil, which is conducive to environmental protection. The oil-water mixing technology continuously produces a small amount of steam under the oil layer. The central heating process can be adjusted at will according to the needs, and the device can control the upper and lower temperature, which can effectively alleviate the oxidation degree, thereby prolonging the life of the fried oil.
4	The oil does not smell, one machine is multi-purpose: The process uses limit control, zone temperature control, and scientific use of the proportion of vegetable oil and animal oil. The animal oil leached from the fried food sinks into the lower layer of the vegetable oil, so that the middle and upper working oil is always pure.
